To Attorneys,

And to whom it may concern:

I beg to call your attention to my capabilities as an auctioneer, and respectfully solicit such business as might be at your disposal. I act as referee; conduct such sales as are formally demanded in the transaction of legal affairs; make appraisements and act as administrators of estates. I have all the facilities necessary for the successful conduct of this special class of business. I am a licensed auctioneer, thoroughly familiar with all the requirements demanded in the office as such, and PERSONALLY CONDUCT all sales. In short, I will take full and complete charge of all affairs appertaining to real estate.

Real Estate Owners.

My Real Estate Department is devoted to the listing and sale of Realty, and is most thoroughly equipped. My methods are peculiarly my own and are uniformly of satisfaction to all with whom I have business relations, as in all the departments the utmost courtesy is extended to all. Special attention given to the subdivisions of outlying tracts. Twenty-five and more years' experience justifies this statement.

House Renting

—AND—

Collecting of Rents

In no department of the real estate business should greater caution be exercised than in these departments. EXPERIENCE, TRUSTWORTHINESS, AND AFFABILITY are absolutely necessary. Good judgment, business foresight and a devotion to the interests of my clients, while being guided by their personal preferences is my assurance I give to those placing their business in my hands.

THE END OF INDEPENDENCE

SOUTH AFRICAN REPUBLICS ARE NO MORE.

Lord Salisbury Says There Shall Not be a Shred of Independence Left—Territory Will be Annexed.

LONDON, May 29.—Lord Salisbury, who was entertained at dinner this evening by the City of London Conservative Association, made an important announcement regarding the Government's South African policy.

"The 'stop-the-war' party have used my name," said the premier. "In support of their ideas by stating that I promised that there should be no annexation of territory or annexation of gold fields. I never gave a pledge. I never meant to give a pledge. (Loud cheers.) I stated a simple historical fact. We were accused of going to war for just gold and territory. It was one of those calumnies which, under the favoring influences of Dr. Leyds, spread itself over the press of Europe.

"Nothing could be more untrue. We went to war to abate the oppression of the Queen's subjects of the Transvaal, and because our remonstrances were met by an insulting ultimatum, to which, if the Queen's government had submitted, her power, not only in South Africa, but over her colonies and dependencies, would have been at an end. We were forced into a war by the action of our opponents. To say that because we repudiated the greed of territory we therefore bound ourselves never to annex any territory is a most ridiculous construction. I dwell upon this point because this matter of annexation is about to become a burning question.

"We have made a tremendous sacrifice of blood and treasure in this conflict. There are misleading prophets, whose action is as large in the columns of newspapers as the action of more industrial and powerful people, who mislead the unhappy rulers of the Transvaal to continue resistance far beyond the time when all resistance has ceased to be even possibly successful. These men are perpetually pressing us to make some conditions, to offer some arrangements, stipulations, that shall leave a shred of independence to the republics. Our only certainty of preventing a recurrence of this fearful war is to insure that never again shall such vast accumulations of armament occur, and that not a shred of the former independence of the republics shall remain. (Cheers.)

"We are not yet at the end of the war, but I shall venture to lay it down as a primary condition of any future settlement that precautions will be taken of such a character that such a war will never occur again. Of course, what measures will be necessary it is impossible at any moment to determine, because that depends largely upon the action and temper of those with whom we have to deal.

"I have already intimated that their resistance has gone beyond the limits to which resistance could wisely go. It is not for us to criticize their action in what they are pleased to call self-defense, but they have acted so that every bitterness created by the war and every severance of classes and races has been stimulated by every measure they have taken, and so they go on.

"It will also be our duty to protect those native races which have been so afflicted, and at the same time so to conduct our policy that so far as possible there shall be a reconciliation and that every one shall be a happy member of the British empire."

TURK AND LEWIS IN COURT

nan both came up to the bar and had a drink together, and Brennan runnin' his hand down over Butler's face, said, 'you have got a little black there.' Why I paid so little attention to it, I never thought no more about it until we were brought into court for it; so I really don't know all that did happen."

Lewis denied having held Butler up in such a position that Brennan could strike him in the face, and Frank Turk on the stand denied having said to Brennan, "Give him a punch in the stomach; that'll double him up." Both Lewis and Turk agreed that neither of the men were fighters, but that Brennan was in the best condition to fight, not being as drunk as Butler. They both denied forming a ring, or in any manner inciting or encouraging the contest.

WANT BOER IMMIGRANTS.

NEW YORK, May 29.—Immigrants are at work to encourage Boers who may desire to leave South Africa to come to this country and settle in the Southern States. Some railroad men are taking an interest in this movement. John N. Sharp, treasurer of the Seaboard Air Line, says that he believes in the practicability of the project. He says: "Boer immigration to the South should be encouraged, for that our lands need such population admits of no discussion. The Boers are suitable immigrants for the United States, since they are accustomed to dealing with inferior races and understand the irrigation of lands such as we have in the Southern sections."

from nature. Nature places most valuable things where they are hard to get at. She concealed the Kimberly diamonds in solid rock. Petroleum, now used all over the world for heating and lighting and many other purposes, was discovered hundreds of feet under the surface of the soil. Ages went by before man found, and were able to mine, coal in sufficient quantities to supplant wood as fuel; and electricity as an available help to us in living, is barely more than half a century old. Among the wonders which patient and hard-working modern science has introduced to the world, is the reconstruction of that grand healing agent, cod liver oil, in the form of

WAMPOLE'S PREPARATION.

The reader is aware that for centuries the usefulness of this drug has been impaired, and in many cases nullified by its nauseating taste and smell. In this effective remedy these formidable objections are entirely done away with. Palatable as honey, it contains the nutritive and curative properties of Pure Cod Liver Oil, extracted by us from fresh cod livers, combined with the Compound Syrup of Hypophosphites and the Extracts of Malt and Wild Cherry. It is a healer, body-builder and strength-maker beyond rivalry or comparison. By means of it diseases are cured which have hitherto been justly regarded as hopeless. In Fevers, Lung Diseases, Influenza, Rheumatism, all wasting ailments, etc., this remedy is successful and has been welcomed by the people and advanced physicians as the solution of a long-standing problem in the art of medicine. One bottle convinces. Effective from the first dose. "You cannot be disappointed in it." Sold by all chemists.
